Consultation Meeting with Edris

How do we make our project seem more agile?

- as long as you relate it to protyping and testing if this link is there we can justify that we followed agile methodology
- in each sprint we are creating new requirements and making tests for it (feature by feature)